TALKED TO ROBBERS.Young Hughes Comes Back Alive.
Desperadoes Demand Terms of Authorities.Double Murder at Diamond Springs
The San Francisco Plague.IA. P. NIGHT REPORT.
TUCSON (Ariz.), June 7.—Executive Director, John T. Hughes, son of San-Gov. Hughes, has just returned from the foothills of the Tucson Mountains east of Tucson, near the stronghold of Chief, the famous chief. Hughes was not secret agent Alvaro, Stiles and Steve Juan, the Cochise and Fairbank trail robbers, who broke jail two months ago in Tucson. The officers of the Sheriff and Wells-Fargo detectives have been scouring the country for them without success.

Hughes arrived in the vicinity of the robbers' camp at 2 o'clock this morning, accompanied by a guide. They were met up with some gang who rusted their hands up, and ordered them to stand up, but identification was followed by a hasty refreshments being provided by Hughes. The interview lasted an hour. Alvaro declared his innocence, and stated he would present his trial to soon as assured of justice. Bill and Steve Juan proposed to fight it out, unless concessions were granted. They added that contributions, no matter how large or small, to his campaign fund were always taken, provided no strike was attacked.

BLOODY TRIPLE-MURDER.

TRROUBLED HUSBAND'S CRIME.

PLACERVILLE, Calif., June 7.—A terrible tragedy occurred at Diamond Springs tonight, which resulted in the killing of three persons and the serious, if not fatal, wounding of a fourth. Zachariah Zunwalt shot and killed his wife, Anna George, and the latter's young child, and seriously wounded his son George.

The Supreme Court decided that the jury is unwise for conviction, but that three jurors are standing out for life imprisonment, instead of the death penalty.

The murderer was brought to this city late tonight by Deputy Sheriff Houk, and the tragedy is now over.

It is thought that Zunwalt's mind is unhinged by constant broodings of domestic trouble. His wife recently instituted divorce proceedings, and their determination has been living with him.

Together with her son she had just returned home from Pleasanton, where the tragedy occurred.

Zunwalt shot his wife Zunwalt through the chest with a rifle, killing him instantly. He then shot his wife again, and then shot the top of his head, composed of the two shot blew out the brains of the baby, which was being held in the arms of his wife. Zunwalt then shot his wife again, and also penetrated both of her arms and breast.

Word was immediately sent to Tom Morris, and Sheriff Morris, who was on the scene, and the attorney for the Board of Health, who stated that they had not had much time in which to prepare a coroner's inquest, but that it was agreed that the matter of quarantine should remain in status quo until further orders.

A conference will be held today between the president of the Board of Health and the attorneys for the Six Companies, for the care of the indigent Chinese, coming within the line of quarantine.

NO PLAGUE CASES.

INJUNCTION CASE POSTPONED.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—No new cases of plague and deaths from the disease have been reported at the health office during the past twenty-four hours. The hearing of the application of the Chinese Six Companies for an injunction restraining Chinese from entering from the frontier with the free states of the Chinese residents of this city was heard before Judge Morrow in the United States Circuit Court today.

The injunction proceedings went over until the Wednesday evening, when the attorneys for the Board of Health, who stated that they had not had enough time in which to prepare a coroner's inquest, agreed that the matter of quarantine should remain in status quo until further orders.

JUDGE NOT AT REST.

IA. P. DAY REPORT.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Dr. O'Brien stated to the Associated Press this afternoon that he had received reports of new cases of plague since Sunday, but that they were not based on facts.

The most suspected case was that of Chew Seng, a Chinaman, who died yesterday Sunday. Positive proof that the man was caused by the black plague is lacking, the final culture of the germs having been taken and the results completed today. Dr. O'Brien's statement was not at rest reports published in several sections of the country that a number of cases had been discovered in this city within the past few days.

Now that the returns from the Oregon election are practically complete, the magnitude of the Republican victory becomes more apparent. The results of the election are even better than Republicans had expected, and serve, in some slight degree, to indicate the direction in which the tide of popular sentiment is setting.

To continue the result, as Senator Carter stated, the case in the Senate on Wednesday, Oregon has given a Republi-can majority of about 10,000. McKinley's majority in Oregon, in 1896, was 42,000. The Republican majority in Oregon in 1892 was 24,000. Representative Tongue, who has consistently supported the administration, Porto Mouton and all, has a known majority of more than 6,000, and the back benches are yet to be heard from. Five years ago Mr. Tongue was elected by a majority of only 62 votes. The increased Republican majority in Oregon is a most favorable augury, and Republicans throughout the country are fully justified in feeling renewed confidence in view of it.

The campaign in Oregon was fought out on national issues, very largely. The opposition to the Republican candidates was based principally upon the course which has been pursued by the national administration in the Philippines, in Porto Rico, and on other questions of national concern. Anti-expansionism, as our opponents prefer to express it, "anti-imperialism"—was the principal Democratic war cry in Oregon, while the Republicans, in their conventions and platforms and campaign work generally, stood up resolutely and consistently in defense of the administration, its methods, its policies, and its principles. It was a good, square fight all along the line of battle. The result is a complete victory of our opponents by the Republicans, with increased majorities on nearly all candidates and in nearly all counties of the State.

It is not too optimistic to predict that the result of the Oregon election is but a forewarning of the result of the general election to be held in November. We believe that the President will be elected his own successor by a largely increased majority of the popular vote, if not of the electoral vote. His administration has been strong and honest and masterful and resourceful. It deserves the splendid endorsement which an increased popular vote would give it; and not only this, but it would be a hazardous experiment for the American people to change administrations at the present critical stage of public affairs. Especially would it be hazardous for the people to put in the Executive chair an untried man holding such extreme and reactionary views as are held by W. J. Bryan. The American people will not be guilty of a piece of folly so momentous.

But the idea should not be entertained by Republicans that victory is to be won in the coming election without an effort on their part. On the contrary, they should go into the campaign prepared to work ever harder for victory than ever before. They should not only be determined to win a victory, but to pass all previous records in the magnitude of their victory. Let the lines close, and let the advance on the enemy's works begin.

According to the Chicago Record, the Boer emissaries complain that they are "under constant surveillance by detectives and secret service agents of the British government." This may or may not be true. But if it is true, it is not surprising that the Boer emissaries have just cause for complaint. They are the representatives of a government which Great Britain is at war, and they are engaged, an American said, in a mission confidentially hostile to the imperial government, and, moreover, a mission offensive to the United States, which is at war with Great Britain. Under such circumstances, the British government would be fully justified in keeping itself thoroughly informed as to the movements of the Boer emissaries.

The statement sent to the Senate on Wednesday proved conclusively that Agassiz had had sympathies in his third version of the Philippine revolution. The proof of Agassiz's meanness was not really needed. Most of the statements, accusations, etc., which he has promulgated from time to time, have furnished their own sufficient refutation. And where prima facie proof of their falsity has been lacking, Ed. Atkinson or some other of the "aunties" have promptly furnished it.

Wm. S. Taylor, who was elected Governor of Kentucky in 1890, counted out in 1900, and afterward kicked out, announced that he will not be a candidate for reelection. Mr. Taylor's declination, under the circumstances, is not unusual. If he should live to be elected, providing he were a candidate, he would never be permitted to take his seat. Mr. Taylor can hardly be blamed for entertaining a desire to save his life.

The Boer forces are reported as having concentrated at a point east of Pretoria. The Boer emissaries in the United States are concentrating in various cities, around banquet tables provided with Democratic refreshments. Liquid and solid. The prospect is that most of the fighting in the South Africa war, from this time on, will be done with the jawbones of Fischer, Weisse, Walgram, Bryan, and other Boer "envoys."

The statement in regard to the membership of the National Irrigation Association is in line with one made a few days ago in these columns, when it was mentioned as a regrettable fact that eastern business men are actually taking more interest in this movement than are citizens of the Southwest, who are so vitally interested.

This is not as it should be. With a strong pull, a long pull and a pull all together, national irrigation may within a few years become an accomplished fact, when not only will Uncle Sam once more be able to give all his boys a good farm, but a great stimulus will also be given to our commerce and manufacture.

REFORMER OR DEFORMER?

The present general warmth of the political incubus will speedily bring into life a multitude of so-called social and political reformers, whose chirping will keep the household in lively commotion, but will not at all distract those who manage between them to waste at least half the time of Congress in ceaseless wrangling over trivial matters. For this reason, much thanks!

AN EVENING BY THE SEA.

I'm sitting high up on the hillside,
'Neath the whispering boughs of the trees.

Where the breath of the primrose and violet
Scents the breath of the soft evening breeze.

The trees stand sombre and silent
In the gloom that's gathering around,

Concealing the face of the daisies
That smile as they sleep on the ground.

The song of the wild bird is silent,
A sleep is the hum of the bee;

Outstretched in the arms of the evening

Lies the calm and wonderful sea.

The twilight is deepening to darkness.

The stars look down from above,

And round me the soft hours murmur.

In a voice that's laden with love.

And far in the eastern horizon,

Where the ocean so placid lies,

Mermaids are coming their tresses

Where the waters are kissing the skies.

Where the blue of the ocean commingles

With the blue of the heavens above.

There the great lamp of evening just lighted,

Hangs trimmed by the fingers of love.

There Oberon and train are now dancing

On silver-sheened ripples of light;

There the midwife of nature stands smiling.

At the birth of so glorious a night.

Ah, Night! when the spirit of Nature draws near,

In shade of thy stillness draws near,

Touches the heart of the poet, and whispers, "Love is God," in his ear.

Love is the God of all nature;

Love is the parent of right;

Love smiles in the sunbeams of morning;

Love kisses the lips of the night.

And when struggle for existence is ended,

When sorrows of life are all o'er,

This soul, with Nature's united,

Shall live in her love forever.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE: DOINGS IN THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS.

EVENTS OF THE DAY.

In an opinion which the City Attorney will give to the Board of Police Commissioners, that body will be advised that it has full authority to dismiss any member of the police force at will, without a hearing if he desires to take such a course. His opinion will be based upon the facts in the case of Mrs. Van Gorder, whose position as teacher in the public schools was recently declared vacant.

The election at which will be chosen the Board of Freeholders to draft a county charter will be held on Friday, July 27. There will be eighteen voting places.

A movement has been started in the City Council to add another 100 street lights to the 100 which the new lighting specifications soon to be adopted provide. The motion is now before the committee of the numerous demands of citizens for more lights.

The Watson footpad trial is rapidly concluding, and arguments to the jury have begun. More testimony was introduced yesterday by Attorney Rogers to discredit the information made against him by the District Attorney on Wednesday that he had tampered with the transcript of the preliminary hearing.

Charles Compton was convicted of forgery yesterday in Judge Shaw's court. This concludes his fourth trial. Horace Bell, Jr., will try for his libel. Watson, who was accused of being drunk in the County Jail for drunkenness, in order to get out of jail, while he was engaged in a footpad hold-up, is being investigated.

He was indicted for the second trial of H. Mackie on the charge of violating the Sundayclosing ordinance.

AT THE CITY HALL—
MAY DISMISS POLICEMEN.City Attorney Holds That the Board Has Authority.Election of Freeholders Set for Last Friday in July.

The Board of Police Commissioners has authority under the law to dismiss any member of the police force at its pleasure, and, if it desires, without a hearing.

It is the opinion of the board, however, that the manner in which dismissals must be made, will not affect the test in the courts. This, in brief, is what City Attorney Haas will inform the board at its next meeting, and then will fly, for there is not the slightest doubt that, unless there is a change in the present intentions of certain members of the board, several policemen will be given an opportunity to resign, and one or two may be summarily dismissed.

When the board at its last meeting dismissed Patrolman Stewart from the force without a hearing, and without having completed the provisions of the ordinance in which it attempted to regulate the matter of discharge, the Mayor did not like it. He voted against the dismissal of Stewart, and the following day he wired the City Attorney and asked that he give the board a written opinion as to its powers. City Attorney Haas would not say what the state of the law was, but reliable information was obtained from another source as to what he will tell the board. There is no question but that the correctness of the City Attorney's views on the matter, for the Supreme Court has ruled in a case which seems to fit the situation here.

In removing Stewart the board took the position that the power to appoint and dismiss is given to the city by the charter, and the county by the city charter, and in this case it is the city which has no authority to alter or abridge that power by the enactment of an ordinance. Article 9, Section 20, of the city charter, according to this, provides:

“All removals in the force shall be made by the Board of Police Commissioners, except as otherwise provided by law.”

Article 9, Section 20, of the city charter, however, is not provided for in this constitution, the term of which officer or commissioner is not provided for in this constitution, the term of which officer or commissioner may be declared by the city or county, and the term of which officer or commissioner shall hold his position during the pleasure of the appointment, and the term of his appointment, but in no case shall such term exceed four years.

A case in which the Supreme Court decided the point came up in the police department here, that was that of H. Cole vs. Cole (100 Cal. page 200). E. R. Higgins was Chief of fire department, and the Board of Freeholders, when the prosecution offered proof to show that the transcript had been tampered with, no pains were taken to keep the finger of suspicion from the reporter, as the defense, for the defense, for the record, to the changed record, the prosecuting witness contradicted himself, in his testimony at the trial and discredited the stenographer, who moved to strike the transcript with the reporter's notes.

It was shown that the transcript was incorrect—that the disputed transcript in the notes was “dark” when the garment in the transcript was “light.”

The word “dark” having all but been wiped out, and the word “light” written over it.

This change Campbell swore he did not make, nor rather that he had not made it, but he did not make it.

The question naturally arose, then, who did make it? The prosecution would not answer the question with a direct answer, but it was shown by its demuror and its examination of the stenographer, it was evident that the police force is not fixed by law, and that would therefore seem to follow that it was not fixed by the constitution, but it was fixed by the city or county.

The decision of the Supreme Court here given will probably have an important bearing upon the case pending in the Superior Court, in which Mrs. Van Gorder is suing the city and the Board of Education because she has recovered her position as teacher in the public schools.

It is well known that a majority of the members of the Board of Police Commissioners would have availed themselves of this power of summary removal, had they not supposed that the law required them to follow the rules laid down in the ordinances.

The Fowler case would not have been tried, were it not for the investigation of the coroner's inquest.

Just what the board will do now is only conjectural, but that without resorting to the felonies risks

Gilson will be dismissed there is no possibility of changing court records. He only doubt in the minds of members of the bar, but for some reason it was withheld. Where the next blow of the ax fall can only be guessed at, for the members of the bar are not giving away their secrets—and they have secrets, some of which relate to other matters. There are several persons who are now walking their beats rather uneasily.

THE TRIAL PROCEEDED.

After further inquiry into the transcript of the trial, Mr. Francis McCann, the defense called Mrs. Francis McCann, who stated that she was present in the employ of a Mojave mining company as a cook-house girl. On March 15 she was living in the city of Los Angeles, at No. 123 South Main street. March 16 was the night of Watson's trial, and she was in the room when Watson went in about 9 o'clock, and he asked his mother for the law book.

Mr. McCann made a motion upon the conclusion of her testimony by writing to know whether she was to be called as a witness, and she said, “I am not.”

“It seems so to me,” answered the witness.

“Now, look on page 16; you see the word ‘light trousers’ as the pantsaloons worn by the footpad. Has the word ‘light’ been there changed?”

“No sir; it has not.”

“Then on page 9 ‘dark’ has been changed to ‘light’?”

“But ‘light trousers’ in page 12 has not been changed.”

“That is no indication of change in this place.”

“Then ‘dark’ was changed to light to make the witness's testimony consistent, isn't it?” asked Rogers, severely.

“It must be so,” replied the witness.

“Did you make the change?”

“Do you know who did?”

“I do not.”

“Who else has had the transcript?”

“Well, sir; I never saw the transcript in this case until last Friday, when I was assigned this trial. Where it has been assigned to me, I do not know, only by hearsay, but the District Attorney.”

Jones was then asked if it didn't seem to him that the transcript had been changed merely to make it consistent, when he had been contradicted, to which he replied, “I do not know, but I referred to answer, saying that that was not the way he had been told, and that he would express himself on that point when he came to address the court.”

“But the change,” persisted Rogers, “is disadvantageous to the prosecution, not to the defense, isn't it?”

“That, too, sir; it is,” said Rogers, firmly.

The defense was excused for drunkenness, on Wednesday, he pleaded guilty, and he manifested no desire to prove his innocence when taken before Justice Morgan, regular member of the police force. Detective Moffat testified that to Gilmore's condition when arrested, and described the vice and profligate language which he uttered after his release from custody. Just as sentence was about to be pronounced, Harry Gilmore, in apparent remorse and desire to withdraw Gilmore's defense, begged to withdraw Gilmore's defense. Gilmore, who is defending some of the alleged highwaymen, has been held by Gilmore's attorney, and is not at his command. The court, however, refused to allow a change in the plea. In view of the testimony already given, the culprit was then sentenced to the State Prison for life.

Ed Davis, the other suspect, who is observed with vagrancy, will not have his trial before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Justice Morgan, however, may be pleased about him, although the police have thus far refused to divulge the nature of the information which have concerning him.

Most of the alleged highwaymen now under arrest were members of the "Robber's gang," a set of tough desperadoes, most of whom have served prison time and committed much mischief. Two of the gang, the Mathisons brothers, were eventually sent to the state prison for robbery and for the Queen. That break-up of the gang for a while, but a theory of the police is that some of the remaining members have been holding out of late and are responsible for most of the hold-up outrages that have happened within the last few months.

The connections of the members of the gang to the dynamite, and the energies of the police department are now being largely started to that end.

HUCKEY'S SECOND TRIAL.
HARD WORK TO GET A JURY.
Almost the entire day in Department Two of the Police Court yesterday, Justice Morgan presiding, was taken up with the examination of a jury for the trial of H. E. Hucker for the charge of violating the Sunday-closing ordinance. It was hard to find twelve good men and true who were qualified to give the defendant a fair and impartial trial. Most of the citizens of Los Angeles have been continually waging against saloon-keepers and the liquor business generally. One man who was asked whether his opinion was that the liquor laws would prevent the jury from giving the same credence to witness' moon's testimony as to that of any other class of citizens, replied that "Well, you are prejudiced against me, also, I presume. Would you not take the word of a saloon man in preference to that of a bootlegger?" was asked.

"No, sir. Between the two I believe I would rather trust the bootlegger," was the comic reply, which was promptly repeated by the defense.

The jury was not completed until nearly 1 o'clock, and it will take at least another hour to get the case in order, and the trial will be adjourned till 9:30 o'clock this morning.

At his former trial Hucker avowedly stated that he had a citizen's map showing lines surveyed for the Union Pacific Railway.

POLICE COURT NOTES.
PENALTIES FOR MURDER.
Justice Morgan yesterday gave C. Harlow a sentence of $20 or twenty days for hitting May Whittier on the head with a stone.

Sam Line was fined $5 for peddling vegetables without license.

James McCoy was given his choice between $15 or fifteen days for getting drunk.

Peter S. Burke was willing to plead guilty, and he manifested no desire to prove his innocence when taken before Justice Morgan, regular member of the police force. Detective Moffat testified that to Gilmore's condition when arrested, and described the vice and profligate language which he uttered after his release from custody. Would you not take the word of a saloon man in preference to that of a bootlegger?" was asked.

"No, sir. Between the two I believe I would rather trust the bootlegger," was the comic reply, which was promptly repeated by the defense.

The jury was not completed until nearly 1 o'clock, and it will take at least another hour to get the case in order, and the trial will be adjourned till 9:30 o'clock this morning.

At his former trial Hucker avowedly stated that he had a citizen's map showing lines surveyed for the Union Pacific Railway.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES.

Los Angeles, June 1, 1909.

CLOUD TO CLOUD. — In 1905 the Indians were allowed to private coinage of silver in private account. In November, 1909, gold was made the only legal tender in India. When the mint was closed, the Indian Council announced that the government had to have the value of the rupee at 40¢. Two weeks ago for the first time this was nearly true, gold being sold in London at 41¢-42¢ per rupee. It is thought the value will rise, giving commercial a pretty stable currency, something being measured for the lack of it.

ORIGINAL PACKAGES. Justice Maria of the United States Supreme Court has rendered a decision to the effect that original packages are the boxes, cases, wrappings or otherwise in which goods are shipped from the factory or where the goods are first packed. The sub-packages contained in the case, box, barrel or carton while package is not an original package.

NO TO OWN. — The Olympia Constitutional Convention, convened to review the proposed state constitution, voted to reject the proposal that the state crop will amount to about 1,000,000 bushels of southern California oranges, or 1,000,000 bushels of oranges "will be more than 600,000 bushels." The convention voted to keep the southern California oranges at 1,000,000 bushels. From all present appearance the citrus crop of Southern California for the season will be as large, if not even larger, than for this season.

DOWN'S REVIEW. — E. G. Dow & Co.'s monthly review of trade conditions for the Southern California market says the market for the past month has been the same, to natural range of prices for dried fruit, the industry to most changed conditions after the heavy buyout by the eastern buyers. The volume of business, of course, is in, of course, that of the eastern buyers, but the eastern buyers are still continuing, and railroad carings return show business offered little to no change.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Congregational Church met this morning at the church and heard an address on love by Miss Ward of Pasadena who spent many years in that feminine-attraction land and who is familiar with the conditions there prevail in the Orient.

In the afternoon the Woman's Aid Society held a business meeting. Many men were entertained at lunch during the noon hour.

Ex-Capt. P. A. Collins of Uniform Bank, No. 21 Knights of Pythias, was presented tonight with a magnificent gold bar in appreciation of his services as treasurer of the organization for three years. The medal was presented to him by members of the committee, a source of great pride to the recipient.

L. T. Moore and a party of ten other San Diegans en route to the Yosemite in three camping wagons are encamped in the Yosemite near Fresno. They are making the round trip to San Francisco to make up the cost of the investment. Twenty-two dried fruits have been sold in their first day, and the price has been good, considering the market. Two-thirds of the crop is said to be ripe.

SANTA CATALINA ISLAND. GREAT CELEBRATION PLANNED.

ANGLER'S (Santa Catalina Island) JOURNAL (Regular Correspondence.) An Angler's Journal is to have a great celebration of our country's greatest holiday. The Angler's Journal will have a privately-organized dinner. The present makes no provision for such a dinner, and the framers will provide means. In fact, the master of the house will be the host of the celebration.

The local lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen elected the following officers for the ensuing term: Tuesdays, Capt. L. C. T. Williams; Wednesdays, R. K. Will Braxton; Chap. G. A. The girls of the Santa Ana High School have organized a drill corps of twenty-four members, and they will march in the Fourth of July Parade.

Two slight earthquake shocks were felt here today, one at 9:40 a.m. and the other at 1:15 p.m. The vibrations were from the south east.

Showers prevailed at intervals during the night and the early morning today in San Diego.

WITH THE TUNA FISHERS.

Yesterday was another great day with the tuna anglers, four out of the six fish being hooked. F. G. Grimes, who caught a 500-pounder yesterday, weighed 200 pounds the day previous, but who was disqualified from membership in the Tuna Club by breaking his rod, had been disallowed. The following committee was appointed to consider the case: Mr. Thompson, Mr. J. M. Smith, and for the defense, Mr. Frank Booth agreed to donate his residence on California Avenue for the purpose, and other prominent citizens also gave money toward the expenses of cash and supplies. It was also decided to meet monthly to forward the cause.

The movement and its supporters are encouraged in forwarding the cause. At the conclusion of the session of the school in the city, the students of the kindergarten, which will be used for kindergarten purposes, and other students of the school, will be sent to the demand for rooms.

As the new charter is put into effect, the school will be conducted in private houses and in public buildings in other cities, the kindergartens part of the established school

PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

The Freshman School afternoons Elizabeth Grinnell spoke on the lower grades on their habits and usefulness. In more than 200 youngsters listen to her remarks of the work of the physical education, making it in the interest of the school.

Mrs. Grinnell told enterprising parents that the school is to be conducted in the city, the students of the school will be used for kindergarten purposes, and other students of the school, will be sent to the demand for rooms.

Many interesting incidents were related by the speaker, and interest manifested by seemed to bode great success for the school.

The campaign against the slaughter of birds and nests are evident all over the country, and the arrangement seems to be made that the strictest of laws against the same will be passed in the gay season.

The Axle Beach Club will play a game of baseball at the Catalina Inn for the Axle Beach next Sunday.

The yacht Avalon took a party of four to Catalina Island this morning. The yacht's Association has its packing-house on the island, just south of Glendale.

The boat will be connected with the railroad, thus providing improved facilities for the curing of lemons and oranges, and the possibility of business management.

The Freshman School now is engaged in its work, and is going to the Russian Mission.

M. Borodovitch, the Russian Agent, reported also to the Russian Bank here as an outcome of his visit to Russia.

Real Estate Values for Twenty Years.

Another Decision Against Front-foot Assessments.

Buidling During the Month of March New Residences Going Up.

With exception of a fair demand for closely-located residence lots, there is little of importance to note in the local real estate market, except that the demand for land, which still continues unabated. As previously stated, much of this land can only be called "old land" by a stretch of the imagination, but then many of those who are fast now investing in oil companies would know investing in old companies would not be wise. Land can make it.

The diagram published herewith to is reproduced from "A History of the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles," recently published by Mr. D. Willard. It shows the movement of real estate values in Los Angeles city and county during the past twenty years, particularly at the time of the "boom." The diagram is based on the figures of the chamber's officers and while they are considered reliable, it is believed they are reliable as to comparative values.

The first line represents the whole country, including the city. It begins in 1880 at $17,000,000 and ascends to $11,000,000 in 1890. Its rise during the next ten years is not so great as that of the whole country, and it continues after the top line has begun to come down. At the end of the "boom" there was a slight dip, but it did not last from that time to the present the advance has been slow but steady. The second line at the end are for the districts of the city, and the third line for the districts outside the city.

The third line represents the whole country, including the city. It begins in 1880, midway between the other two, at the county center of the country, and its course, especially at the time of the "boom," demonstrates the rapidity of the growth of the almost exclusively to farming lands and town sites. There is a violent rise in 1880, as contrasted with the rise of the whole country, and it goes far below the city, and to a point even with that from which it began its rise. A small part of this record is due to the census of 1880, which comes with its nine millions of value. The reductions of the past three years are due partly to the adoption of part of the county by the city, and partly to the dry season of 1897-98, which caused the assessors to cut down county assessments to help out grain farmers who had failed in crop.

LAKE SHORE BOULEVARD.

Work has commenced on the Lake Shore boulevard, along the west side of Echo Park. This improvement will furnish a much-needed outlet to the north side of the section.

STREET-IMPROVEMENT LAW.

Yet another adverse decision has been given on the "front-foot" system of assessing for street improvements. In the United States Circuit Court for the District of Washington Judge Diamond passed down a decision in favor of upholding the view of the Neword-Baker case, adopted by other Federal judges, "California Municipalities," says:

"Under the estimated facts of the case, the municipalities making the assessments for the improvements in question, gave no consideration to the benefits to accrue, or the injury which might result to the abutting property by reason of said improvements, and did not apportion the costs or assess the abutting property with reference to the cost of the public improvement, but made the assessment upon an ad valorem basis, or in other cases upon the front-foot plan. The court decided that the law does not require for public improvements under the statistics of Washington, which require that the entire cost of the improvement must be borne out of the tax base, and which are laid by the front-foot plan, or by other methods, that do not take into consideration the benefits
